SYSTEM WITH USER DIRECTED ENRICHMENT AND IMPORT/EXPORT CONTROL

Abstract of Disclosure

A system for enriching document content using enrichment themes includes a directed search service and an import-export service. The directed search service allows users to author documents while querying information providers using the directed searches that are inserted as part of the authored documents. The import-export service enables meta-document exchanges between systems that provide document enrichment by binding imported meta-documents to identical or similar information providers.